THE butcheries which the Mexican Liberals are committing, in the name of public justice, are condemned in this country, even by those who have most loudly demanded that our government should pursue the same policy. When they see the very thing they have called for, they stand appalled in the presence of it.

STATE OF KANSAS.

Excursion Over the Union Pacific Railway, E. D.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, July 3, 1867.

I have said that I should only speak of such cities and towns in Kansas as I have visited. I did not visit Atchison, a lively and progressive city of several thousand inhabitants, situated on the west bank of the Missouri, some fifteen miles below St. Joseph, Mo., and a like distance above Leavenworth. A railroad running directly west for one hundred miles through a very fine country, starts here and is already finished and in operation for a distance of sixty miles. A law of Congress grants the company a subsidy in lands and bonds for a distance of one hundred miles; and doubtless the grant will be extended as soon as the road shall be completed that distance. Whether it shall be continued on until it reaches the Union Pacific Railway of the Kansas, or that of the Platte, to north, is a question not yet determined. Should it be continued in a southern direction to the first named road, it will probably reach it at or near Manhattan, 120 miles west of Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY

Is in Missouri, just across the line dividing that State from Kansas. It is situated on a bluff on the south bank of the Missouri, about a mile below the mouth of the river. At the mouth of the Kansas the Missouri makes a great bend, changing its course from nearly south to almost due east. It is a magnificent site for a city, whether regarded in the light of its immediate location or of its commercial possibilities as a great railroad centre. It is now the western terminus of the Missouri Pacific road, and the eastern terminus of the main line of the Union Pacific, Eastern Division. Soon it will have a branch road to Cameron, on the Hannibal and St. Joseph road, and ere long a branch of the North Missouri road—which begins at St. Louis, crosses the Missouri at St. Charles, and thence runs up through the northern part of the State—will be made to Kansas City. Both these important branch roads are to cross the Missouri at Kansas City on the same bridge.

In addition to all these, Kansas City is to be one of the termini of the great road which is soon to be made from several points in Kansas to Galveston on the Gulf of Mexico, which is but little over six hundred miles distant, through one of the most beautiful and fertile regions on the continent. The central stem of this road will reach the Union Pacific at Lawrence; the eastern at Kansas City, and probably the western will terminate at Junction City, at the mouth of Solomon river, three miles beyond Fort Riley—the people of the ambitious little city last named talk as if their branch was a sure thing. That to Lawrence is sure, for they are pushing it on vigorously, and expect to have twenty-four miles of it completed and in operation by January next. As for the branch to Kansas City there seems to be no doubt. All these roads run through very rich agricultural lands, and all traverse good coal fields before they come together at or near the southern border of the State.

Such are the prospective advantages of Kansas City. To what it may grow remains to be seen. Should its future be directed by men of large, liberal and enlightened views, I cannot see how it can fail to become one of the chief cities of this vast and magnificent region. But should its destiny fall into the hands of narrow minded, greedy and unscrupulous adventurers, and should a rowdy element collect there and give it a bad moral tone, then Leavenworth—which has very nearly equal geographical advantages, and superior local advantages—will maintain its position as the chief city of this important centre. The struggle for the ascendency between these two cities will be an interesting one, and will probably conduce to the prosperity and well being of both.

WYANDOTTE.

This town is situated at the mouth of the Kansas, and is bounded by the Missouri on the East and the Kansas on the South. The location is neither ample nor pretty, and the aspect of the place exhibits neither taste nor thrift on the part of the people.

TOPEKA.

This is the capital of the State. The situation is pretty; and although the city is somewhat straggling, and the streets in bad condition, there are many handsome residences and several good hotels. I was there but a short time, and can only speak of it in general terms. I visited the ground where they are laying the foundations of the capitol. It is to be built of the fine soft magnesian limestone found around Junction City, of which I spoke in a former letter, and will doubtless be a very handsome edifice. To be the seat of the government of a State, however, is in my opinion a very questionable advantage to a city. Topeka is on the south side of the Kansas river, twenty miles west of Lawrence.

WAUMEGA.

This is a pretty situated new town on the railroad, some forty-five miles west of Topeka. I did not stop, but I observed a fine large hotel, and the appearance of business. The surrounding country is very good; and as it is settled up, Waumega will grow.

MANHATTAN.

Leaving Junction City on Monday morning the 17th, I ran down on the train twenty miles, and stopped off at this beautiful little town at the mouth of the Big Blue, intending to remain one day; but I was so much pleased, and found so many objects of interest, that I remained two days.

I had letters which introduced me at once to the social life of the place and to the most generous hospitality, and I had an opportunity to look more closely into the character of the people generally than of any other town I visited in Kansas. The population is only about one thousand, but there is ample room on their magnificent town site for a hundred thousand.

Manhattan was originally founded by a little colony from Cincinnati, who migrated from that city in a small steamer which they purchased for the purpose. They steamed down the Ohio, up the Mississippi, up the Missouri, and then up the Kansas to the mouth of the Big Blue. That was their destination, and their boat never returned. It was kept for a dwelling place until provision for the families could be made on shore. But before they left the boat, and before a single dwelling had been erected, the spot for a school house had been selected, and measures taken for its immediate erection, so that they might have at once a school for their children and a place of worship for all. This was some twelve years ago, and long before the railroad which has brought fresh life and prosperity to their town was ever thought of.

Take it all in all, I think Manhattan and its surroundings the most beautiful part of Kansas that I have seen, which is the same as saying that it is the most beautiful portion of this earth's surface upon which my eyes ever rested. The Rev. Alexander Sterrett, of the Presbyterian Church, who, by a mandate which it was not in me to resist, made me his guest, took me in his buggy to the summit of Blue Mont, a conical eminence, some two hundred feet high, about a mile from town. Such a combination of the grand and the beautiful—the soft green of the gracefully undulating prairies, the dark rich foliage of the trees which skirted and marked the winding course of three streams, the Kansas, the Blue and the Wild Cat, for miles north and west and east, the beautiful forms with which the broad landscape was dotted all over, with their comfortable looking and really pretty stone houses and the bright and quiet looking town in the valley beneath, with the College on the rising ground in the rear—is rare indeed. Senator Wade, who with others of the Senatorial party of excursionists, visited this spot, was greatly delighted, and uttered the rather novel remark that the view from the high mountain where, long ago, the Evil One spread his panorama of temptation before the eyes of the Redeemer could have been nothing to that.

I have spoken of the intelligence of this community and of their virtues. By their fruits we may know them. The Congregational, Episcopalian, Presbyterian and Methodist denominations are all represented, and each have a neat house of worship; but the most cordial relations exist among them all. The people are too intelligent to permit differences of this kind to divide them. Of this fact I can speak from my own observation. I was assured that no better graded free school was to be found in Boston than these, and certainly they have a very ample and well-finished school edifice. But a single place exists in the town where intoxicating drinks are vended, and even that is likely to be closed. Some time ago a man set up a billiard table, but it would not pay, and he went off with it. In fact, idleness, vice and rowdyism are almost unknown.

There are many good stores in the place, and the principal street has something of a city aspect. Buildings are going up rapidly, nearly all of that beautiful stone of which I spoke in a former letter, and altogether the place appears to be busy and thriving.

There is a fine water power at Manhattan. Some three miles above, by the road, but more than three times that distance by the course of the stream, there is a considerable fall in the Big Blue—which is a large, clear and standing river—at the head of which a substantial stone dam has been erected. A race of three miles across the level neck of the peninsula, and down past the base of Blue Mont, will bring the water to town, and give a fall, as I was informed, of about twenty-four feet—enough to propel a very large amount of machinery. The Kansas itself, I am told, can also be made available for a like purpose. I see no reason why this may not become an important manufacturing town.

The Rev. Mr. Sterrett, of whom I spoke, is a native of Washington county, Pa., and received his education in Cannonsburg and at the Allegheny Theological Seminary. He has been there less than a year, and already has a small but flourishing congregation. He is one of those strong minded, earnest, self-sustaining men whom no difficulties can discourage, and who do not rest exclusively upon a feeble struggling flock, nor upon the "ecclesiastical commissary," to use his own expression. A stock farm and a saw-mill, which he holds in partnership with a brother minister of the Methodist church, yield him its chief support, while he supports the Gospel and leans lightly upon his people. Both these pastors are noble-hearted men—the right men for the border.

Indian Troubles in Arizona Increasing—Mining Matters—Specie for New York.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Late Arizona advices represent that the Indians are troublesome at Prescott and Mayamburg, stopping mails and running off stock, and burning stations. The Indians attacked Beale Springs Station, killing one man and running off stock. They were pursued by a company of cavalry and infantry. The Indians attacked the soldiers and caused them to retreat. They were followed all night and kept up a constant firing. The troops were compelled to kill what prisoners they had taken, and also part of their stock, to prevent them falling into the hands of the Indians.

General McDowell's rebuke of General Gregg for vigorous measures against the Indians created indignation throughout the territory.

La Pasa letters say the Huakapais and Yavapays Indians were murdering soldiers and citizens. There is no safety on the Prescott road, beyond the Cruz Mine.

The steamship Sacramento sailed to-day with one million five hundred and thirty-three thousand six hundred and sixty-eight dollars in treasure; one million two hundred and eighty-two thousand, three hundred and forty-seven for New York.

The Hall & Norcross Mining Company declared a dividend of one hundred and twenty-five dollars per foot, Chollar twenty-five, Imperial ten.

Flour dull and unchanged. To-day's steamer carries five hundred barrels to New York. Wheat quiet and unchanged; transactions unimportant. Barley active at $1.10. Legal Tenders 72¼.

Movements of Juarez—Mysterious Dispatch Bearers—Santa Anna Still in Prison.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 11.—An official report transmitted to the Mexican Consul here, states that President Juarez and his Cabinet left San Luis Potosi, on the 1st inst., for the Capital, where he would be received with great pomp and eclat, as the deliverer of his country, and the defender of republican principles in Mexico.

Mr. Robinson, of the New Orleans Republican, and Emile Lazere, an ex-Confederate, at one time an agent of Maximilian, and of the Tehauntepec Railroad grant notoriety, were the bearers of the United States dispatches, so often and so mysteriously alluded to. Lazere, it is understood, is still in the interest of the railway scheme, and represents Marshal O. Roberts, of New York, in securing that which Santa Anna failed to secure for want of power to fulfill his obligations.

The officers and men of the Imperial army, recently landed at Mobile, have arrived here and will be furnished transportation to New York, if desired.

The Herald's Havana correspondent says: Santa Anna is still in prison. He had refused food for three days, and was continually inquiring if they were going to shoot him. He asked for a confessor.

City Scrip in Bad Odor—Registration Progressing Slowly.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The Herald's New Orleans special says: There has been an unusual depression in city scrip to-day. Brokers refusing to take it at any price, and an obscure rumor is afloat that city notes, once redeemed to be burned, have been cautiously given out again.

Under the new order of General Sheridan, registration is progressing feebly and with no animation. More whites are being registered in proportion to the blacks at present than heretofore. An order will be promulgated to-morrow directing the Board of Registration to proceed to select suitable persons for Commissioners of Election, and make other provisions for the holding thereof. A generalization of reports at headquarters shows that out of 111,534 persons registered in Louisiana, there have been only 37,128 whites against 74,416 blacks. From a few sub-districts no reports have been filed since July, but nothing to come will materially change the above figures. The blacks stand to the whites nearly two to one, and will so continue.

An Old Affair.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—The reported attack on Fort Wallace, Kansas, by Cheyenne Indians, and loss of fifteen soldiers is an old affair, which occurred June 24th, and was reported at the time. No new attack has been made, and no disturbance has occurred on the Smoky Hill route for some time. General Sherman is at Fort Harker, and it is presumed General Hancock has reached that point from Lennox.

In Extraordinary Session.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 11, 1867.

SENATE.

RECONSTRUCTION RESUMED.

The Reconstruction bill was taken up.

Mr. HOWARD withdrew his amendment to the sixth section, in the course of his remarks on the subject saying he might as well leave the District Commanders to determine the matter contained in his amendment.

Mr. HOWE moved to amend the fourth section, by adding a proviso that "any person heretofore appointed by the District Commanders to exercise the functions of a civil officer, may be removed by the District Commanders or by the Commanding General of the army." He said that without this proviso it might be thought the District Commanders had no power to remove a man once appointed.

Mr. EDMUNDS moved to amend by adding the words "heretofore and hereafter."

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

NO MORE SECESSION.

Mr. DRAKE moved to amend by adding an additional section, to the effect that no rebel State shall be entitled to representation in Congress unless it shall, in its Constitution, have a provision declaring that such State shall forever remain a member of the American Union, that every citizen owes a paramount allegiance to the United States, and that no law shall be passed by said State in contravention of the authority of the United States, or in subversion to it.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. TRUMBULL made a point of order, that under the resolution of Friday, no subject could be introduced not strictly pertaining to the reconstruction bill, as passed at the last session. This was a new subject.

Mr. DRAKE was addressing the Senate, when several Senators objected that a point of order was not debatable.

Mr. TRUMBULL repeated his point, that co-operation in voting a new plan of Reconstruction was not admissible.

Mr. DRAKE said this was no new plan. It was simply to provide that no new State shall be admitted until its Constitution shall be made to conform to the American system.

Mr. TRUMBULL said that was not in the original bill. If the Senate shall declare this amendment in order by an affirmative vote, do not let us go away and leave this miserable foolery and hideous monstrosity of States Rights, to return again to plague us.

Mr. BUCKALEW, though opposed to the amendment, believed in the point of order that it was admissable.

The CHAIR decided the amendment was out of order under the resolution of Friday.

APPEAL FROM THE CHAIR.

Mr. DRAKE appealed from the decision of the Chair, and addressed the Senate to show that his amendment was in order.

Mr. POMEROY thought that the best way to reach it was through a suspension of the rule of Friday.

Mr. DRAKE said he should make this motion, if defeated on his appeal from the Chair.

Mr. SUMNER contended the amendment was in order. In the course of his remarks he said he reserved to himself the right to require such guarantees as he thought necessary to secure a Republican form of government.

Mr. POMEROY did not believe Congress could ask any additional guarantees.

Mr. SUMNER—It was announced in the Reconstruction bill that the constitutions of the rebel States should be submitted to Congress for approval.

Mr. POMEROY said that meant the right to revise the Constitutions, to see if they were in accordance with the Reconstruction bills.

The question was then taken on Mr. DRAKE'S appeal from the Chair and the Chair was sustained.

So the amendment of Mr. DRAKE was declared out of order.

Mr. DRAKE moved a suspension of the rules. Not agreed to.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT.

Mr. BUCKALEW offered the amendment, of which he gave notice a few days since as follows: Section first. That in the election of Representatives in Congress from the said States mentioned in the act of the second of March, 1867, each elector shall be entitled to give as many votes as there are representatives assigned to his State by apportionment of law, and he may give one vote to each of the requisite number of persons to be chosen, or may accumulate his votes and bestow them at his discretion upon one or more candidates less in number than the whole number of Representatives to be chosen from the State.

RULED OUT OF ORDER.

Mr. TRUMBULL raised the point that the amendment was out of order.

Considerable debate ensued by Messrs. BUCKALEW, TRUMBULL, HENDRICKS, and others, and Mr. BUCKALEW'S amendment was decided out of order.

CULMINATIVE SUFFRAGE.

Mr. BUCKALEW then resumed his speech on the subject of cumulative suffrage, contending that the majority principle now in vogue worked unjustly and unfairly, and left the masses of the people without a voice and practically disfranchised. He cited illustrations of the principles as applied to Congressional representation, and claimed that his amendment corrected these abuses.

Mr. JOHNSON favored Mr. Buckalew's amendment, and made a defence of the Attorney General.

Mr. SUMNER delivered a written speech, reviewing the different stages of reconstruction from February, 1862, to the present time, and offered an additional section, requiring the establishment of schools in the rebel States free to all, regardless of color.

Mr. TRUMBULL claimed the amendment was out of order and the Senate refused to receive it.

THE COLORED QUESTION.

Mr. SUMNER offered an amendment, by a proviso, that no discrimination as to race or color be made in the appointment of registers. He stated in reply to a question as to the necessity of this proviso, that there was no single colored register in the whole of Virginia, and repeated what he said in his written speech, that it would be the duty of the Senate, in a few months, to welcome colored Senators on this floor.

Mr. CONKLING argued that Mr. Sumner's amendment would accomplish nothing, as the States are already forbidden to make any discrimination on account of color.

The amendment of Mr. Sumner was lost.

ANOTHER DISORDERLY AMENDMENT.

Mr. SUMNER offered an amendment, that there shall be no elections held in rebel States for State or federal officers until their state constitutions shall have been approved by Congress.

FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

This was decided out of order. Mr. SUMNER offered an additional section, "that all the provisions of this act, and the acts to which this is supplementary, shall be construed liberally, to the end that the intent thereof may be fully and perfectly carried out."

Mr. SUMNER offered an amendment, as an additional section, "that for the purpose of this act, all cadets, midshipmen, and acting midshipmen, shall be deemed officers of the United States from the date of their appearance on the army or navy register." Rejected—thirteen against twenty-one.

Mr. SUMNER offered an amendmet, making it a misdemeanor to attempt to prevent the execution of this act. Rejected.

Mr. HOWARD offered an amendment to the fifth section, "that in every case of refusal by Boards to register an applicant, and in every case in which they strike a name from the list, the Board shall make a memorandum of the case, setting forth their reasons for the action, and send the same to the District Commander." Agreed to.

Mr. HENDERSON offered an amendment, which was agreed to, extending the time for the revision of registration from three to five days.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

CONNECTICUT MEMBERS SWORN.

Messrs. HUBBARD and BARNUM, of Connecticut, appeared and took the oath.

UNPRECEDENTED REQUEST.

Mr. ROBINSON moved to suspend the rules, to enable Mr. Barnum to record his vote on the passage of the reconstruction bill on Tuesday, and the Speaker suggested there was no precedent for a member voting before he had been qualified.

Mr. ROBINSON withdrew the motion.

Mr. PHELPS asked leave to offer a resolution to instruct the Committee on Commerce to inquire into the causes of the present collapse in ship building in America, but Mr. ALLISON objected.

BOUNTY MATTERS.

On motion of Mr. MOORHEAD, the Committee on Military Affairs was directed to inquire into the expediency of amending the bounty act of July, 1866, so as to provide that in case of the death of a soldier after his discharge, and before receiving bounty, it shall be paid to his heirs.

VOTE RECORDED.

Mr. FOX asked and obtained permission to record his vote on the Reconstruction bill.

PETITION FROM MARYLAND.

Mr. WARD presented a petition of nine hundred citizens of Maryland, asking Congress to pass a law abolishing all distinction in suffrage on account of color throughout the United States. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

ADJOURNMENT TILL OCTOBER.

The House resumed the consideration of the concurrent resolution, offered yesterday by Mr. BOUTWELL, providing for an adjournment till October.

THE IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. BOUTWELL said as the action of Congress on the proposed impeachment of the President would stand either for good or evil, as a precedent, it was due to the character of the House, and to the high position of the person accused, that this great proceeding, which must remain in history after they had all passed away, that they should command all the time necessary, for a fair, just and judicial consideration of the question. They should not let the matter be involved in measures of party welfare, which would exist during the next twelve months. They should see that the time was free from all controversy about other matters.

Mr. PIKE asked Mr. Boutwell to let the amendment be offered for adjournment until Wednesday the 13th of November.

Mr. BOUTWELL declined to do so.

Mr. PIKE said he proposed the amendment without reference to the question of impeachment. He did not believe the House should hasten its session one day in reference to that question. He did not believe that the country desired to be involved in that question. The country wanted peace. It wanted time to recover from the waste of war. So far as it concerned the punishment of the person in the White House, it seemed to him that after having destroyed him politically, the only question now was whether they should mangle the corpse. He (Mr. Pike) should not wait for impeachment.

Mr. STEVENS said, in his opinion the whole country believed the articles of impeachment should have been reported long ago. He wished the House would order the Judiciary Committee to report at this session, at least partially, with leave to make further reports at the next session, so that the country might understand whether there was anything in the conduct of the President that deserved impeachment.

Mr. SPAULDING gave notice that if the previous question were voted down, he should offer as an amendment a resolution similar to that under which the present session was held, for Congress to meet on the 16th of October, if there were quorums in both houses.

Mr. PIKE said it was one question whether the President had fitly discharged the duties of his office, and it was quite another question whether Congress should enter on this game of President making. He was entirely willing to leave that to the convention that would be selected in a proper way, instead of endeavoring to precipitate a movement here in favor of one man, and it was that which in his judgment underlies this most intense action on the question of impeachment.

Mr. BROOMALL, of Illinois, assured the House that it could not console itself with the reflection that this subject could be passed over. It had gone too far for the House to ignore the proceedings of the Judiciary Committee. The House had got to sift the evidence and take some action, for or against impeachment. He knew of no one district of country where the people considered the matter dead or unworthy the attention of the House. The people had chafed under delay. They were angry that the House had not shown sufficient energy in inquiring into the merits of the controversy. They were weary with the delay in hunting up specialities and trifles, when the glaring fact stared them in the face that the President, at the last Congress, at its first session, was charged with the assumption of complete legislative power, and of every attribute of a Despot. He could not conceive in what community the gentleman from Maine had lived, that he could draw the conclusion that the people would be satisfied with the ignoring of the question of impeachment. The House could not ignore it. It must go on with the matter now, or in October or January, and the question had to be decided. He could certainly speak for the entire West, when he said the people demanded this action from the House. He did not know, and did not pretend to know, what influenced the Judiciary Committee, but the people had began to think that if the Committee had been finding anything in the course of its investigation, it was time it should be made known.

Mr FARNSWORTH said it seemed that the first duty of the House was to require the Judiciary Committee to report the testimony already taken, that it might be printed, and that the House and country might form a judgment in regard to it. The next duty of the House was to adjourn until members had an opportunity of examining the testimony, so they might come together duly informed in relation to the facts. He did not know whether Mr. Johnson should be impeached or not. He had some idea on the subject on general principles, but did not know what the testimony was. He wanted to know that. He would therefore give notice that he would offer a resolution instructing the Committee to report the testimony without delay.

Mr. LAWRENCE, of Ohio, protested against the remarks of the gentleman from Maine, intimating that the proposition of impeachment was simply a scheme for President making, and repudiated the charge.

Mr. ROSS was of the opinion that the time had come when the question should be brought before the House and the country for action.

Mr. BOUTWELL insisted on the previous question.

The House refused to second the previous question.

Mr. PIKE then offered his amendment, substituting the 13th of November for the 16th of October.

Mr. SPALDING moved a substitute for the concurrent resolution, similar to that under which the session is held.

Mr. SCHENCK made the point of order that Mr. Spalding's motion was out of order.

The SPEAKER overruled Mr. Schenck's point of order.

Mr. SCHENCK appealed and the appeal was not sustained.

Mr. PIKE'S amendment was adopted.

Mr. SPALDING'S substitute being rejected.

The concurrent resolution, as amended, was adopted.

SELECT COMMITTEE ANNOUNCED.

The SPEAKER announced the following Select Committee on the treatment of Union prisoners: Messrs. Schenck, Pike, Hardy, Stevens, (of N. H.) and Munger.

RELIEF OF DESERTERS.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill for the relief of repentant deserters, which was up yesterday. It provides that no soldier or sailor shall be taken to be a deserter from the army or navy who faithfully served the prescribed period of his enlistment on the 15th April 1865, and who without proper authority quit his command after the surrender of Lee and Johnson. The bill passed.

IMPEACHMENT AGAIN.

Mr. STEVENS, of Penna., offered a resolution directing the Judiciary Committee to report at this session the evidence relative to impeachment and moved the previous question.

The House refused to second the previous question, and Mr. WILSON moved, as a substitute, that the Judiciary Committee have authority to have printed the usual number of copies of testimony in time to be laid on the desks of the members on the first day of the next session, and then moved the previous question.

The previous question was seconded, and the main question was ordered—yeas, 84; nays, 25.

Mr. STEVENS remarked, after the vote was taken, he was willing to abandon the matter, and moved to lay the resolution on the table. Agreed to.

Mr. ROBINSON offered a resolution for the appointment of a standing Committee of Nine, to be known as the Committee on Internal Revenue. Referred to the Committee on Rules.

They subsequently made another ascension, landing near Forrester, and returned to Boston by train.

THE MONONGAHELA HOUSE.

Completion of Improvements—Description—Banquet.

We believe that nothing contributes more to the character and reputation of a city abroad than a well conducted and energetic press. The stranger forms his impression of the importance, industry and enterprise of a town or city, from the perusal of a newspaper which finds its way into his possession. Next to the public press come the hotels. A traveler or a visitor entering the city is impressed favorably or otherwise just in proportion to the character and style of the hotels it contains. If improperly managed and second class in style, he becomes disgusted with the place and neither argument nor eloquence can disabuse his mind of the prejudice he has formed against the place. But if to the contrary, the hotel be well managed and complete, he entertains a life long respect and admiration for the city in which he has received hospitable treatment, and will be prepared to grant any degree of excellence to which the citizens may lay claim. The press has long fitly represented the great enterprise of our city and fully shadowed the goaheadativeness of our people, while the hotels have held high rank among those of our country, performing well their share of representation. While some have not held the rank which might have proved flattering to our people, others have steadily kept pace with the age and in their management and general excellence have given great satisfaction to our community at home and the traveling public at large. Among these prominently stands the

which was established by the present proprietor, J. McDonald Crossan, Esq., in 1842. In 1845, the year of the great conflagration, which destroyed the larger portion of our city, for our city's good, the hotel was burned to the ground. It was not rebuilt till two years had elapsed, when the present massive building was erected at what was then, in cheap times, an enormous cost. Owing to its beautiful location on the northern bank of the Monongahela, and its commodious character, combined with its excellent management, the house rapidly gained a reputation as the first class hotel west of the mountains, and year after year enjoyed an unbroken season of prosperity. Tourists and travelers ever joined in general praise of the house and ranked it as second to no other in America. It was a source of pleasure to our citizens, that while shrewd observers took us to task for the many faults of our homely old city and criticised mercilessly upon our customs and institutions, they would soften their strictures by pleasant allusions to the first class hotel which we possessed, in the Monongahela House. Of late years hotels have undergone vast improvement, and not to be outdone, it was resolved in 1865 that the old house should be transformed into a new one, and made a formidable rival to the palaces devoted to the accommodation of the traveling world recently erected in the metropolitan cities of the country. The idea was hardly conceived till active measures were at once taken for the

REMODELING.

Plans and specifications were at once made out, and the work promptly commenced. For two long years the transforming of the old into the new, the comparatively ancient into the modern, progressed under the direction of that master architect and builder, Charles Bartberger, Esq. Singular to say, the business of the house was not one single hour interrupted by the great changes going on in the interior; but, on the contrary, during that time thousands of guests were provided for who hardly knew that the change was being wrought.

At an immense cost the building has been finished and to-day will compare with any hotel on this continent. It has been remodeled throughout, and fitted and furnished in the most lavish style imaginable. The owner, W. B. Lyon, Esq., one of our wealthiest and most enterprising citizens and manufacturers, has performed a deed of incalculable service to the city in placing the Monongahela House on a level with the best of American hotels, while equal credit is due the urbane and gentlemanly proprietor, J. McD. Crossen, Esq., for the magnificent manner in which he has refitted the hotel over which he has so successfully presided during a long term of years. Yesterday we looked through the hotel, and made a few observations of the improvements, which we endeavor to present to our readers, feeling that we are not able to do full justice to the subject, lacking the powers of description to properly set forth the many beauties and accommodations of the house.

MAIN ENTRANCE.

The principal entrance to the house is from a hall leading into the rotunda from Water street. It is a broad, cheerful looking passage with marble flooring, the walls painted in pure white and ornamented with chaste stucco moulding. As we enter, on the right, is the gentlemen's parlor fronting on Water and Smithfield streets, and commanding a magnificent view. The floor is laid with marble tiles, chequered, black and white alternately. The furniture is of black walnut, plain and rich, there being no tawdriness to annoy the sight of the guests. Seven large windows, running almost from ceiling to floor, flood the place with light during the day, while at night two chandeliers of magnificent proportions serve the same purpose. In the centre of the room is an immense mirror of pure French plate, which, in a plain frame of walnut, is in keeping with the furniture, and adds much to the general attraction of the parlor.

PRIVATE ENTRANCE FOR LADIES.

Between the gentlemen's parlor and reading room is the private entrance for ladies. It is a handsome hall, leading from Smithfield street, and ladies pass to the second floor without coming in any manner in contact with the gentlemen's or business department. The hall is richly carpeted, and the wall and ceiling elaborately adorned, while a beautiful chandelier depends from the ceiling. This entrance is exclusively designed for the lady guests and is at all times locked and attended by a porter, so that no one can pass in or out without his knowledge.

READING ROOM.

The next on the right is the gentlemen's reading room, which fronts on Smithfield street, and is of the same commodious size as the parlor we have described. It is furnished in elegant style, containing luxurious sofas, easy chairs, reading tables, paper racks and everything conducive to the comfort of a reading room. Here will be found on file all the leading newspapers of the State and country, together with other choice reading matter. The floor is laid with white and blue marble tiles, and the walls are painted a pure white and ornamented with neat moulding in stucco. It is a model reading room, and is far ahead in point of design and finish of any in America.

BARBERS AND BATHS.

Immediately to the left of the Water street entrance are situated the barber's saloon and bathrooms. The former is much superior in finish to many elegant banking offices, and is attended by the very best of the knights of the razor. The baths are ranged in the form of an L and are constructed in modern style. The tubs are large and supplied with hot and cold water and showers. Each compartment is furnished neatly with mirrors, tables and chairs, and the floors are carpeted.

BAGGAGE ELEVATOR.

The largest and most complete baggage elevator in the country is on the right of the Water street hall near the rotunda. It has been constructed on modern principles and is capable of hoisting almost any given weight or quantity of baggage to the stories above. This prevents the laborious work generally performed by porters in lugging baggage up and down stairs, and of course secures the better handling of trunks and valises. The pitcher room adjoins the elevator, where the temperance beverage of ice water is kept subject to the call of the occupants of the rooms throughout the house.

THE ROTUNDA.

We now approach what we shall call, in the absence of any better name, the Rotunda, although it is almost a perfect square in the interior, but nearly circular on the outside. This is sixty feet long by fifty-two feet wide, and is approached from three directions by halls centering or leading into it, viz: from Water street, from Smithfield street, from First street. The elegance of this department is a faithful index of the style of grandeur which prevails throughout the entire house. The floor is laid with chequered marble tile, the walls and ceilings are painted virgin white, and the wood work throughout is in walnut, ash and yellow pine. No one can enter the house through any of the halls without passing before the clerks on duty, as the entrances all lead to the rotunda. The business office is beautifully fitted and combines all the improvements of the day. The counters and desks are of polished black walnut wood, and present a very handsome appearance. Directly opposite the Clerks' office is the Porters' lodge, where are constantly in waiting a score of faithful colored attendants. Above the centre of the rotunda is a dome some sixty feet in circumference. It is quite lofty, and is furnished with a score of vari-colored panes of glass which form skylights. From the centre of the dome is suspended a magnificent bronze chandelier, bearing a large number of jets, and sufficiently capable of brilliantly illuminating the rotunda. Over the Smithfield and between the Water and First street entrances is the stairway which leads to the upper departments of the house. We incline to the belief that no finer specimen of workmanship of this character can be found in the country. It is constructed in the form of an arch, the stairs, some fourteen feet wide, ascending gradually from each side, and on a level with the second floor terminate with a broad platform. The wood of which it is constructed is ash, ornamented with carved moulding and panels of black walnut. From the platform an audience of one thousand persons was addressed during the late Soldiers' Convention in this city, as the rotunda is capable of accommodating such a number.

SMITHFIELD-STREET ENTRANCE.

This is a hall similar in every respect to the one from Water street. It is paved with marble, and is in point of finish equal to any in the country. This entrance will, perhaps, be more used than any other, as it is decidedly the most convenient.

WASH ROOM.

A large square room with marble floor is located immediately to the right of the rotunda. It is a model in its way, having a range of continuous marble-wash stands with ample conveniences, and the necessary racks for towels. Several large mirrors grace the room. The coat room and news stand, in charge of our valued friend, Mr. Ward, stands directly opposite the wash room. It is neatly fitted and admirably adapted for the purposes applied.

BILLIARDS AND BAR.

Lovers of the great game of billiards, which is justly regarded as one of our national games, will find one of the most complete halls in America devoted to the ball and cue in the large room fronting on First street. It is some thirty-two feet wide by eighty in length. Six new rosewood tables, which combine all the novelties and improvements adopted, will be found, with the truest of balls and best of cues. This may be entered through the rotunda or bar room or from First street. The bar room adjoins the billiard hall, and it, too, is worthy of special attention. It is in the corner room fronting on Smithfield and First streets. It is a perfect palace in its way, being fitted up in the most luxuriant manner imaginable. It is nearly forty feet square, and all the appointments are in the very best and grandest style. The ceilings and walls are beautifully painted in ornamental designs in bright oil colors, and the bar is brilliant with the finest of cut glass decanters, and other ornaments. A range of French plate mirrors occupy the wall, against which the bar is erected.

THE SECOND FLOOR.

Returning to the rotunda, we ascend the broad stairs and arrive in a promenade hall on the second floor, which is laid with encaustic ornamental tiles, in the most beautiful designs. This is seventy-five feet long by thirty-five feet wide, and is finished in a style of art which could not well be surpassed. There is a high, broad window, or rather a number of windows combined, with panes of elaborately stained glass, on the right side, through which the light comes abundantly during the day, and at night elegant bronze chandeliers with a number of gas jets are used. This promenade hall is immediately at the head of the stairs leading from the entrance for ladies. To the right is a large and airy room designated as the "Ladies' Reception Room," into which newly arrived female guests are first ushered to await the assignment of rooms. This apartment is furnished in a luxurious manner, any description of which we might give would hardly convey to the reader a proper idea of its grandeur. The ladies' parlors, still more beautiful, are on the same range, fronting Water street. These are papered, painted, and ornamented beautifully, while the furniture is of the most elegant modern style. Magnificent mirrors of unusually large proportions grace the mantles and walls, pianos occupy their places, and everything is of the costliest character. Indeed, no where else in the United States can better furnished, or more elegant and comfortable parlors be found.

THE DINING ROOMS.

The main Dining Hall is located in the corner of the hotel fronting on First and Smithfield streets, and is 120 feet long by 30 feet wide. The ceiling is 16 feet high and is neatly adorned with stucco moulding and ornamental work. So far as our observations have extended, East and West, we are prepared to vote the palm of superiority of this dining hall over any and every other in the country. It is neatly furnished, contains a score of tables, is lighted by a great number of windows by day and by night with nearly one hundred gas jets. By a patent chandelier, however, the use of the latter is in a great measure done away with in warm weather, sufficient light being afforded from a few burners to which are attached powerful reflectors. The windows are hung with rich brocatelle curtains heavily corniced, and the general appearance of the room is magnificent. It is approached by several halls and is convenient to all parts of the house. Another large dining room fronts on Water street, which when completed will equal the one now in use in point of elegance.

KITCHEN, PANTRY AND LAUNDRY.

The Pantry, a large, clean and well ventilated room, is immediately in the rear of the dining rooms. It is well supplied with steam tables, carving desks and all the appurtenances pertaining to this important apartment of a hotel. It is kept in the very best of order. To the rear of this we find the Kitchen. This is a very large square room, with brick floor, laid on iron girders and otherwise rendered fire proof. The roasting is done in an inclosed oven, in which the meat, placed on large spits, is made to revolve by means of a delicate little steam engine. The cooking is nearly all done by steam, and we observed all sorts of mechanical appliances and arrangements for the preparation of the good, square meals for which the house is famous. The greatest cleanliness prevails here, and one has his appetite sensibly strengthened by passing through or paying it a visit. The Laundry is separate from the hotel building, occupying a large three story brick house on the opposite side of First street. It is likewise complete in every department.

SLEEPING ROOMS.

The rooms, and there are a whole host of them, on the second, third, fourth and fifth stories, devoted to guests, are very neatly finished and furnished. Some of the larger rooms for married couples are very elegant, being fitted up in the highest style. The floors, passages and stairs in the upper portions of the hotel are covered with Brussels, velvet and other rich styles of carpets. The painting throughout the house will strike the visitor as something extra, as much time and care were taken to make that part an attractive feature. It was done by the well known Pittsburgh painters, J. P. Barry & Bro.

ACCOMMODATIONS.

The house contains two hundred and twelve sleeping rooms, which will comfortably accommodate some four hundred persons. In emergencies, that number doubled can be accommodated. As improved, the Monongahela House stands among the first hotels of our country in point of capacity and general excellence, and Pittsburghers cannot be too proud in its possession.

THE FURNITURE, &C.

The superb parlor and chamber furniture was purchased from J. W. Woodwell & Co., Fackiner & Irwin, Pittsburgh, and from dealers in Boston, New York and Philadelphia. The elegant and rich carpetings were supplied by McFarland, Collins & Co., Oliver McClintock & Co., of this city, and James H. Orne & Co., Philadelphia. The looking glasses and magnificent mirrors were from J. J. Gillespie & Co., Pittsburgh, and E. H. Purdy & Co., New York.

A BANQUET.

Last night, the occasion of the completion of the improvements, was appropriately celebrated by a grand banquet complimentary to the members of the city press. The supper spread out was all that could be desired, having been prepared under the direction of George W. Alden, the efficient Superintendent and caterer of the House. Every paper in the city, both religious and secular, was fully represented, while many prominent citizens were present by invitation.

After a blessing from on high was invoked by Rev. Dr. Douglas, the guests, numbering some fifty persons, took their places at the table, and partook of the bountiful repast spread before them. When the cloths were removed champaigne, sparkling catawba, and sherry were introduced. The meeting organized by calling Josiah King, Esq., of the GAZETTE, to the chair, and the designation of several gentlemen as Secretaries. Neat and appropriate addresses were delivered by the Chairman, Joseph Snowden, Esq., R. Biddle Roberts, Esq., J. McDonald Crossen, Esq., Rev. Dr. Douglas, Rev. Mr. Nesmith, Rev. Mr. Allison, N. P. Sawyer, Esq., George H. Thurston, Esq., T. J. Keenan, Esq., Mr. Neeo, Messrs. William Schoyer, E. H. Myers, Joseph A. Lare, H. Holtzman, C. Bartberger, Joseph Oxley, Thomas Armstrong, and G. D. Ware.

The following resolutions, offered by Rev. James B. Allison, D. D., were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, 1. That this company is highly gratified with the improvements introduced into this hotel, so well known and patronized in past years, so that in its arrangements for the comfort of its guests it is not excelled by any establishment of the kind in the country.

Resolved, 2. That the thanks of the company are due to Mr. Crossen for the splendid entertainment given us this evening, and that we most earnestly hope that this house will receive a patronage corresponding to its high merits.

At a late hour the party adjourned, with renewed admiration for the Monongahela House and its ever popular and accommodating proprietor, J. McDonald Crossen, Esq.

Sent to the House of Refuge.

Ellen Metzer, a young girl between fifteen and sixteen years of age, whose parents reside about fifteen miles from the city, was sent to the House of Refuge yesterday, by Mayor Morrison, of Allegheny City, for larceny. The facts of the case are as follows: The girl came to Allegheny City about two weeks since, and secured boarding at Carson's hotel, at Ohio and Beaver streets, where she remained over night, and on the next day suddenly disappeared. Her departure was attended with the loss of a considerable quantity of wearing apparel belonging to the domestics about the house, some twenty-five or thirty dollars worth of clothing being missed. Some days after the larceny Annie Matson, employed at the hotel, made information before Mayor Morrison, charging Miss Metzer with the larceny, and a warrant for her arrest was placed in the hands of officer Joseph Campbell. Wednesday the officer visited the residence of the girl's parents, and finding her at home, arrested her and brought her to the city. After her arrest it was ascertained that on the night following her disappearance from Carson's, she stopped at the White House, in Perryville, of which Mr. T. Costamagna is proprietor. When she left there she took with her some valuable articles of wearing apparel belonging to Mrs. Costamagna.

Complimentary to the Oil Men.

Yesterday the Petroleum Association of this city was honored with a complimentary dinner at the favorably known and popular Revere House Dining Rooms, Opera House, Fifth street. A large number of the members accepted the invitation of the gentlemanly proprietors, Messrs. Welsh & McCafferty, and sat down to one of the most sumptuous dinners ever prepared in this city. The tables fairly groaned beneath the weight of the choicest viands and delicacies of the season, served up in the high style of art for which the proprietors of that first class house are so justly famous. We need not say that the courteous knights of the oil trade did full credit to the sumptuous meal, nor that they failed to do justice to the sparkling champagne and catawba which so generously flowed after the cloths had been removed. Pert speeches were made, and a good time generally was had, after which the party returned a vote of thanks to the clever proprietors, and departed sharing fully in the general verdict of the people—that no better meal can be obtained than is daily served up at the Revere House, by those princes of hospitality, Messrs. Welsh & McCafferty.

Committed.

John Sullivan was committed to answer at Court, by Alderman Strain, on oath of Ellen Sullivan, for surety of the peace. Ellen alleges that John, who is her husband, threatened to take her life.

Mary Morgan was committed for Court, on a charge of assault and battery, made before Justice Kerr, of McClure township, by Bridget Kenan.

Anne Fahrop made information against her husband, Henry Fahrhop, charging him with deserting and refusing to contribute to the support of herself and child. Justice Stevenson, of Manchester, before whom the information was made, committed him to jail in default of three hundred dollars bail for his appearance at Court.

Council Meeting.

A regular semi-monthly meeting of Allegheny City Councils was held Thursday evening, July 11th.

The Piano Controversy Ended—A Telegraphic Dispatch from Messrs. Chickering & Sons.

BOSTON, July 6, 1867.

C. C. Mellor, Pittsburgh:

Five (5) gold medals, each exactly equal, were distributed among all nations for the best pianos at the Paris Exhibition. All the Juries, by unanimous vote, recommended a gold medal to the Chickering piano, which the Imperial Commission granted at once, and further recommended an additional award of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, making the medal awarded to Chickering & Sons the first and highest over all competitors. Both medals and cross were presented by the Emperor in person. The Juries were not unanimous in awarding to some of our competitors, and the Imperial Commission granted these with some hesitation.

The Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor was not awarded to any piano manufacturer except us.

(Signed,) CHICKERING & SONS.

Commenting on the above award, Watson's Art Journal of Saturday, July 6th, says: It was a source of gratification to all, that during the whole period, between the day of the opening of the Exposition, and the day of the presentation of awards, there had been no attempt by the Chickerings to delude the public by advance puffs, or by false statements of first medals won over all the rest of the world. The only machinery used being the republication of critical articles taken from the leading musical journals of Paris and elsewhere. They raised no flags to commemorate a triumph that had not been achieved, and therefore had no occasion to pull them down in sight of jeering observers. In short, they trusted to the merits of their magnificent pianos, and in the discrimination and impartiality of the juries, and verily, they have got their reward.

Thus ends the great Piano competition of 1867, which excited the most absorbing interest, not only in this country, but in Europe. The competitors were eminent, so that he who came out best in the fight, could claim without controversy the high honor of superior excellence over all others. The struggle was close and earnest, but an American firm finally won, to the chagrin and discomfiture of all.

The Chickerings have got a Gold Medal of honor, and from the same royal hands which presented it, and in order to more potently mark the appreciation of the eminent services rendered by the Chickerings in developing and perfecting the piano forte, their representative in Paris, Mr. C. F. Chickering, received the unexampled tribute to genius and practical skill, the decoration of the Legion of Honor. They may now raise their flag without fear of being questioned, and without the necessity of taking it down again. They have won the right, and their banner should be thus inscribed: "Paris Exposition, July 1st, 1867. The gold medal of honor! The decoration of the Legion of Honor. CHICKERING & SONS."

First Medal by the Supreme Jury,

"For greatest perfection in Grand, Square, and Upright Pianos," with the strongest endorsement of the jury.

This is the verbatim report of the award of the First Gold Medal to the Messrs. Steinway & Sons, by the Supreme Jury in Paris, and which places them at the head of their profession, since they are the only Piano makers whose Square and Upright Pianos were considered equally perfect as their grand Pianos. It appears thus, that while the square and upright Pianos of Messrs. Chickering have not been deemed worthy of special mention, the gold medal was received by them for excellence on the OLD plan of reconstruction in grands, and the medal to the Messrs. Steinway for NEW and IMPROVED construction and matchless perfection in all the THREE different styles of Pianos.

SECOND MEDAL—BY THE SOCIETY OF FINE ARTS.

For greatest perfection and novelty of construction in Grand, Square and Upright Pianos. A grand testimonial medal awarded by the Societe des Beaux Arts (Society of the Fine Arts, in Paris,) to the Messrs. Steinway & Sons. A literal translation of the award.

The Messrs. Steinway are the only piano makers thus signally honored by the Society of Fine Arts, and the two most scientific bodies of France have thus combined to proclaim "Steinways the Piano King, of the world." As to the decorations of the Legion of Honor, the "ribbon" reflects no more upon the merits of fabrics display than our last war with England did upon the quality of the effervescent beverage once sold in Centre street under the taking sign of "Soda Water, by a veteran of 1812." The action of the international juries in the award of prizes was clearly final, and alone could decide the conflicting claims of exhibitors. If, at the solicitation of influential friends, some of those who came off second best in the trial of skill for the international championship were presented with souvenirs of the occasion by their Imperial host, such tokens of esteem were also indices of glorious defeat, and plainly meant to confirm, rather than set aside, the carefully prepared decisions of the several juries.—New York World.

Assault.

Mary J. Graham, of Baldwin township, made two informations against a Jew clothier on Liberty street, by the name of Kahn, charging him with assault, and also with surety of the peace. She alleges that she is a poor woman, with a large family and that her daughters do house-work; that she came to town a few days since with one of her daughters and secured her a situation in the house of Kahn, and left her. That the next morning her daughter was set to washing at three o'clock, and kept at it until eleven o'clock at night, and the next morning was called at six and put to ironing the clothes she had washed the day before, at which she was kept working until she fainted from over-exertion and the excessive heat. As soon as she was able she left the city returned home, and told her mother how she had been used, whereupon she (the mother) came to town to draw the wages due for the two days her daughter had worked. She says that on calling on Kahn for the money he abused her and said that if she was a man he would kick her out of the house, and that he spit in her face. We do not publish the above as facts, but only as the statement of the prosecutor, which in all probability is a little extravagant. Kahn was arrested and held in three hundred dollars for a hearing on Wednesday next.

Brown's African Methodist Episcopal Church.

The colored people of Allegheny City are erecting a church at the corner of Hancock and Boyle streets in that city, and in order to obtain the means necessary to complete it, they have appointed Prof S. A. Neale agent to solicit subscriptions to that end. They also announce a grand celebration at Union Park, to take place on the first of August, at which all the colored military and civic societies of the two cities will be present, and a grand tournament will be one of the principal features of the entertainment. The proceeds of the exhibition are to be devoted to the payment of the church debt. The building in which the people formerly worshipped, situated on East Commons, was destroyed by an incendiary, several years ago, since when they have had no regular place of worship, and their efforts to build another are praiseworthy, and should receive every encouragement. We hope all, and especially our Christian friends, will remember this enterprise, in bestowing their charities.

Slaughter of Maximilian.

This the nineteenth century of the Christian era is one destined to fill a position in the future history of the world, which future generations will look on with horror and astonishment. Horror, that in an enlightened age like the present, which stands pre-eminent, not only for its devotees of religion, but of art and science, a punishment so horrible and unjust should be meted out to a brave and worthy, but misguided Prince. Astonishment, that in our midst we had one of the most stupendous wars the world ever saw—the necessaries of life to be obtained only at fabulous prices—clothing scarcely at all. Such we are happy to state is not any longer the case, and in furtherance of what we advance, we would refer our readers to the list of prices of dry goods advertised on our second page by Mooney & Drennan, 59 Federal street, Allegheny.

Oakland Railway Company.—It will be seen by advertisement in another column, that the Oakland Passenger Railway Company will run cars every ten minutes from Oakland to Pittsburgh, on Sundays, the cars stopping at and leaving the foot of Wylie street. Guns Wanted.—Mr. J. H. Johnston, the proprietor of the well known Great Western Works, corner of Wayne and Penn streets, advertises for rifles, carbines, revolvers and all other description of fire arms, for which he will pay the very highest price. Guns or pistols may be sent by express for which the money will be promptly remitted. See advertisement.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

FRIDAY, JULY 12, 1867.

UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HON. HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

Of Allegheny County.

PITTSBURGH AND THE WEST.

Our correspondent C., who responded in the GAZETTE of yesterday morning to the remark of our St. Louis correspondent, that not a single bid was received from Pittsburgh for a large lot of pipe for the new water works in that city, complains that such discriminations are made in favor of eastern cities in the matter of railroad freights, that Pittsburgh cannot compete with Albany and Troy in the markets on and beyond the Mississippi river. He alleges that freights such as that in question are carried from New York to St. Louis by rail for eight dollars per ton, while similar freight is charged eleven dollars from Pittsburgh to St. Louis.

It is difficult to suggest a remedy for such a state of things so unequal and so manifestly unjust, as legislation in a single State is inadequate to reach the evil. As the Constitution expressly empowers Congress to regulate commerce among the States, it might be well to consider the propriety of requiring all the roads of the country to regulate their freight schedules in proportion to the distances over, say, two hundred miles.

The sharp competition between the roads of New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland for freights destined for such points as Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago, induce the managers of those roads to carry at rates which barely save them from loss—as, for example, eight dollars per ton for heavy water pipe from the Atlantic tide water to St. Louis—and then, by way of compensation to themselves, compel such intermediate places as Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Cleveland, which cannot take advantage of that competition, to pay rates which yield enormous profits.

Our Kansas correspondent pointedly alluded to the fact that all the heavy machinery, and all the stoves he saw in the warehouses west of the Mississippi, were brought from the Hudson River or beyond it—that not a single article of the kind, nor iron, nor nails, nor horse shoes, nor glass, of Pittsburgh manufacture, was to be found. May we not attribute this strange fact to the same cause? We think our manufacturers are not slack in pushing their several products into every paying market; but of what avail is their enterprise if they have to pay from thirty to fifty per cent. more freight than other competitors of the East? State legislation, as we remarked before, cannot cure this evil which is bearing so sorely upon the intermediate manufacturing centres of the country, and upon the agriculturists of all sections which are not so fortunate as to have a choice of routes to the markets of the seaboard.

We have stated the facts as they have reached us, and it is certain that the general impression on the minds of business men is in accordance with these alleged facts. If in any respect we have done injustice to those who control our great lines of railroad our columns are open to any correction they may desire to make. The more light there is thrown upon such subjects the better.

APPRENTICESHIP.

Everybody is aware that the old-fashioned system of apprenticing boys to trades for such a length of time as would ensure them full instruction in the selected pursuits, and carry them past the perilous period at which the moral habits are ordinarily established, has fallen almost into disuse in this country. Serious evils have resulted from this decadence. Vast numbers of young men grow up in comparative idleness. Ashamed to work and with no knowledge of any proper craft, they fall into irregular habits, and become pests to society. Thousands who attempt to learn trades, acquire only a superficial knowledge of them, which is, indeed, better than nothing, but in consequence most mechanical branches, so far as they are supplied with workmen born or reared here, are compelled to take a very large proportion who are only indifferently qualified for the performance of their duties. The evils are most serious, to those who fail to acquire trades at all, to those who attain them only indifferently, and to the whole community.

The Grand Jury of Philadelphia recently made a presentment on this subject, which is worth considering. It is as follows:

The grand jury respectfully call attention to the evils resulting from the most entire abandonment of the system of apprenticing boys learning mechanical and other trades and employments formerly practiced so generally. The apprentices were under the care of their masters not only during the hours of labor, but at other times; and they were thus kept from bad company and improper places, more than lads engaged in similar pursuits are now, when so many are not under the control of parents, guardians or masters during the evening and other times of leisure, and thus are led into sleeping from home, at engine houses, and in other bad habits leading to crime and disorder, annoying and disgracing the whole community. A learner of a trade had, under the former system, some security that he could remain with his master until he had acquired a thorough knowledge of the art and practical expertness in the use of tools or skill in the practice of his calling, with a certain amount of schooling secured by his indentures, tending, at least, to make him a better citizen; whereas now the custom is to pay a weekly stipend for the board and clothing of the boy, who, in many instances boards with strangers, who have no control over him, and take no care of his habits and morals, or with parents whose time is so much occupied that they can not control him or supervise his doings sufficiently; and, besides, the boy is not certain that he will be taught the whole of his business, or that he will not be discharged when the employer may find it convenient to reduce the number of his hands. It is to be hoped that the proper authorities will take action in the matter, and that proper laws will encourage the indenturing of apprentices.

Freight Discrimination.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—While you have been so earnestly advocating the adoption of a General Free Railroad Law, there is one point which has been, as yet, entirely overlooked by you and others who are interested in this very important matter, and when I say this, I think I write the universal sentiment of all good citizens, and manufacturers of Pittsburgh especially.

The point I especially refer to is the discrimination in rates of freights by Railroads centering here in favor of Eastern manufacturers. Now, this I know to be done, and to give an illustration: When in Cleveland, a few weeks since, I was credibly informed by a party that their freight was being carried from Philadelphia to that city for $4.25 or $4.50 per ton, but I think the former rate is the correct one. Now, I believe the rate from Pittsburgh to Cleveland is $5 per ton. A few days since, a manufacturer of this city desired shipping a quantity of freight to St. Louis. He wished to know what our Railroads would carry it for. He was told that the General Freight Agent would let him know the next day. Consequently they had a meeting, and agreed to deliver it there for the low rate of only $11 per ton, while I am credibly informed that a party in New York can ship through from New York to St. Louis, all rail, for $8 per ton. Now, if the capital, energy and enterprise of our manufacturers is to be dealt with in this manner by our Railroad combinations and monopolies the sooner we are to understand it the better. If I mistake not, our Legislature appointed a committee last session to inquire into this thing of discriminating in rates of freight, and if they are not afraid to fight the lion in his den, I feel confident they will find enough testimony to satisfy them that it is being done. Let them bring our manufacturing and business men before them, and all will tell of wrongs daily forced upon them, and if afterward they do not grant us a law giving us Free Railroads in our State, Pittsburgh manufacturers had better dispose of their interests or move them to a State that has granted it.

Dry Goods Imports.

The New York Journal of Commerce has published the imports of foreign dry goods at that port for the fiscal year closing with June, which shows less imports for the last month and less amount thrown on the market than in preceding years, and less than in 1865. The total entries for consumption were $2,374,570 in June, 1867, against $4,260,661 in 1865. The withdrawals from warehouse were $3,713,444, against $6,977,747 last year. The entries for warehousing were $4,245,313 in June of last year, against $6,775,244 the former. The total value landed in June was $4,801,703, against $2,901,423 in the same term in 1865. The dry goods imports for the six last months were $37,455,020, against $46,957,473 last year and $17,075,474 in 1865. The total thrown on the market in this time was $50,715,199 against $66,941,971 in 1866, and $29,100,263 in 1865. The total entries at the port for the fiscal year ending with June, were $105,407,273, against $137,055,834 last year, and $49,853,939 in 1864-5. In 1859-60 the dry goods imports were $107,843,205, and in 1865-6 they were, as above, $137,055,834. No other year since 1850 has come within $10,000,000 of this total. If the $156,000,000 of general merchandise landed are added to dry goods, there would be $260,000,000 imports at that single port, reckoning the foreign rate in gold.

New York Pickpockets in Paris.

On the 12th day of June last, two Inspectors of Police, on duty in the Champ de Mars, observed two men acting rather suspiciously. The Inspectors watched the strangers for some time, and, having finally lost sight of them, gave a minute description of them to some brother officers, with instructions to follow the suspected parties in the event of their appearing again in public. The very next day the two men whose movements had been previously looked after, were seen in the square surrounding the Palace Royal, mingling with the crowds gathered about the omnibus bureau near by. The smallest of the strangers was continually jostling against the ladies, while his companion was on the lookout a few yards in the rear. After a few minutes' delay, a police officer saw the smaller pickpocket hastening toward a woman who was about to enter a stage, and an instant later the offender was arrested while in the act of abstracting a portemonnaie from the lady's pocket. The prisoner's accomplice succeeded in escaping, but was captured on the day that followed the arrest of his friend. When arraigned for examination, the accused parties gave their names respectively as James Dolan and John Gray, and confessed to having come from the United States for the purpose of plying their trade in Paris. The Tribunal Correctionel subsequently sentenced each of the pickpockets to three years' imprisonment and five years' surveillance.—Journal des Debats, June 27.

The Viceroy of Egypt in London.

The Times denounces with severity the decision of the Government that the Viceroy of Egypt will be the "guest of the State," and that "rooms will be provided for him during his stay in London at Claridge's Hotel." It says "there are limits even to the apathy and negligence of the British public in matters of international courtesy. It is enough that we have let the Russian Emperor come within a few hours' journey of our shores without asking him to cross the Channel, although the heir to the British crown was received by him with magnificent hospitality. We have to ask of the Government that a second breach of good manners shall not be perpetrated in the case of the Egyptian ruler. For the present, at least, the nation must consider the Government as its representative in such matters as well as in the weightier concerns of administrations and diplomacy. Of Lord Derby and his colleague we would, therefore, ask that they should make such arrangements as will insure to this Eastern Prince, to whom we are joined by so many bonds of policy and friendship, a reception which shall not mortify him nor disgrace ourselves. The nation will regret and resent any failure in courtesy to its visitor as if it were a slight to itself."

MR. DICKENS relates in All the Year Round the story of a strange coincidence, having almost a supernatural character, which recently occurred to himself. It is contained in a note which he appends to an article by a contributor, who advances some new theories with regard to spectral appearances, and tells the famous stories of Lord Lyttleton (with some additions not hitherto published), and of Lord Tyrone and Lady Beresford. Remarking on the letter, Mr. Dickens thinks that natural explanations are sufficient; and, in illustration of "the broad margin of allowance that must always be left for coincidence in these cases," tells the following singular story: "We dreamed that we were in a large assembly, and saw a lady in a bright red wrapper, whom we thought we knew. Her back being towards us, we touched her. On looking round, she disclosed a face that was unknown to us, and, on our apologizing, said, pleasantly: 'I am Miss N——,' mentioning a name, not the name of any friend or acquaintance we had, although a well known name. The dream was unusually vivid, and we awoke. On the very next evening we recognized (with a strange feeling) coming in at the open door of our room, the lady of the dream, in the bright red wrapper. More extraordinary still, the lady was presented by the friend who accompanied her, as Miss N——, the name in the dream. No circumstance, near or remote, that we could ever trace, in the least accounted for this. The lady came on the real, common place visit, in pursuance of an appointment quite unexpectedly made with the lady who introduced her, only on the night of the dream. From the latter we had no previous knowledge of her name, nor of her existence."

—One curious incident that occurred just at the moment Napoleon was delivering the Exposition Prizes on Monday, the cable, doubtless for fear of injuring the harmony of the narrative, omits to mention. When Mr. Hughes, the inventor of the printing telegraph, was called up to receive his prize, the Emperor took his hand, making him an exception to all the other recipients of medals. Mr. Hughes, as he touched the Imperial finger, slipped into the august palm of his serene Highness a little bit of paper containing the last message received by the cable and printed by the machine for which he was just being decorated. It contained these words: "Maximilian is shot. His last words were, 'Poor Carlotta!'" His Royal Serenity read the telegram, and immediately gave evidence of a fearful agitation. His cheek blanched, his hands trembled, and the diamonds on the Imperial garter quivered so in the sunlight that a shout arose from the admiring multitude. What the Emperor thought is, of course, not to be exactly known. But we may conjecture that he heard over all the shouts and music, above the booming of guns and salvos of artillery, the single shot that was death to his insane ambition as to his deluded dupe, the single cry as of a woman—young, beautiful and good—answering to the last cry of her young husband—"Poor Carlotta!" "Poor Maximilian!"

—The New York Hide and Leather Journal notices a few of the differences in the shape of the pedal extremities of people in various sections of the country. Shoes made for one locality are not adapted for all. For instance, a broad shoe, wide in the shank, is best adapted to the Eastern trade, a narrow shoe meeting with but little favor. Rhode Island, though the smallest State in the Union, can boast of some of the biggest feet that ever trod sole leather. The Middle States require slimmer shoes and higher in the instep than in the East. The instep grows higher as we progress southward, commencing with Virginia, and the foot shorter and more plump. Rarely at the North does a full grown man wear less than a No. 6, running up in the scale of sizes to No. 11, but at the South many a full sized man wears 4s and 5s, and seldom over 9s. The ladies of the South, adds the Charleston Courier, have confessedly always had the smallest and prettiest feet of any race in the world.

—Punch publishes a funny picture of a night scene in a street in London, the characters being a perplexed cabman, a policeman, and a carriage full of drunken young men promiscuously heaped upon one another. Says the cabby:—"Ere's a go Policeman! What am I to do? I vos ordered to take these 'ere gents as a been a dinin! you see, to their 'spectable 'omes, vun vos for 'Anover Square, another for the Halbany, and the tothers elsevere. Vell, they vos all carefully sorted ven I started, and now they've been and gone and mixed the'r-selves up an' I don't know vich is vich."

—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News, a London paper, mentions that a little book used in the French schools, with the assent of M. Duruy, Minister of Public Instruction, tells the rising generation that "the Emperor Maximilian reigns peaceably over a contented people, and that French influence is, thanks to God, forever established on the South American continent.

Almost a Victim to Vanity.

An interesting young miss of the fashionable circles has lately been moved by an ambition to take the lead in the matter of personal charms, and adopted an expedient for transcending the attractions of other emulative damsels, and winning to herself the admiration of all the rustic swains in her locality. Having heard that arsenic had been successfully employed by fashionable belles for beautifying the complexion and rendering the cuticle of the countenance soft and transparent, she resolved upon a course of treatment, and on Tuesday last procured a supply of the deadly drug. As might have been expected, the foolish girl had little idea of what quantities of the poison might be taken without incurring the danger of a fatal result, even though aware, if consummate vanity did not preclude an atom of common sense, that its introduction into the system in the most minute portions must be attended with ruinous effects. The consequences were that the usually quiet section of the city in which she lives was appalled on Tuesday evening by the report of an attempted suicide on the part of one of the fair daughters, and rumor was very busy in divining the cause of the painful affair, until the victim, in an interval of violent retchings and the energetic operation of a stomach pump, was enabled to give an explanation of herself. A fatal result was averted by the skillful attentions of the physicians, and the patient is in a fair way of recovery. It is to be hoped that the brave damsel will be contented with nature's bestowments in the future, and not again resort to such violent means to overdo the "pretty."—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

—The most exciting incident that has occurred recently in California is the birth of an extraordinary pair of twins in the City of Sacramento which, had they lived, would have totally eclipsed the fame of the Siamese, and made the fortune of their happy parents. The two children were united from the umbilicus to the hip, the faces looking toward each other, and the bodies so completely united as to appear but one. The legs and arms were perfect and of medium size, and indeed, above the navel and below the hips, the bodies were perfect and well formed. I am told by a medical gentleman who saw them that they presented a piteously curious appearance, and reminded him of the quaint devices we sometimes see in Hindoo idols. Fortunately for themselves, they were born dead, and their parents were Christian enough to have them decently buried, instead of giving them up to be preserved in pickle in some medical curiosity shop, as they were pressed to do by a deputation of scientific men, who rushed to Sacramento on the announcement of the birth.

—A letter from Dr. S. G. Howe, of Boston, to the Secretary of the Greek Relief Committee, dated Athens, June 13th, contains an account of what had been done by the Doctor with the money and clothing contributed from this country up to that time. After some effort he has made an estimate that fully 12,000 Cretans are entirely dependent upon outside aid for food and clothing. Their wants for food have generally been supplied so as to prevent starvation, but they are in pressing need of more food, clothing and medicines. He had distributed a box of clothing which had arrived from Boston, and it was received with the greatest gratitude. He appeals for further assistance from Boston and America, and the Greek Consul at No. 30 Central Wharf will receive and forward to Dr. Howe at once any articles that may be sent to him for the relief of the Cretans.

—The Cincinnati papers announce the death of Eld. David S. Burnet, a gentleman well known in this region and throughout the West. He was a distinguished preacher in the Disciples denomination, probably, next to the late Alex. Campbell, the most prominent man in its ranks. Only about a year ago he delivered an elaborate eulogy at Bethany on Mr. Campbell. He was a member of the well known Burnet family of Cincinnati, but at the time of his death was residing at Baltimore. He had been a preacher for upwards of forty years, although but a little turned of sixty at the time of his death. As an accomplished pulpit orator he had few superiors.

—It is said that the Emperor Napoleon and the Sultan of Turkey are blood relations—cousins. The story is that about the time the beautiful Josephene came to France she had a cousin, a creole like herself, only if possible more beautiful, who on her voyage to Europe was taken prisoner by an Algerine corsair and sent by the Dey as a present to the Sultan. She became the Sultana, as her cousin became Empress. The present Sultan is her grandson, as the present Emperor is the grandson of Josephine. So when the Emperor welcomes the Sultan in the royal fashion as his beloved cousin it will not be a mere formality.

MR. W. MILLER SAYS:

PITTSBURGH, September 4, 1866.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENTS—I think I am only doing the part of a good citizen when I testify to the great benefits received by me from the use of your Stomach Bitters during the last five years. Sojourning for a time in the oil regions, in 1861, I had a severe bilious attack, which, in connection with dyspepsia, left me in a very weak condition. I was advised to try your Bitters, and, having procured a bottle, found that they worked like a charm upon me, eight pounds having been added to my weight in the space of one week, and new life seemed to have been infused into my system, so much so that I have been induced to use them every summer since that time. As a tonic, I think they are invaluable.

This summer, having had a similar attack, (and as before, much reduced,) although under the treatment of an A No. 1 physician, I was again obliged to have recourse to the old Bitters, and with the same good result, having gained six pounds within a few days. I purchased a half dozen bottles a few weeks since, and purpose to use them regularly as a tonic.

Wishing you every success, I remain,
Yours, gratefully,
WILLIAM MILLER.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodanus, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhœa, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5.

Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap20

THE MEMBERSHIP AND CONGREGATION OF BROWN'S A. M. E. CHAPEL, through its Trustees and Pastor, Rev. J. W. DEVINE, appeal to all classes of Christians, in the name of our sovereign Ruler, the God and Father of all, for help, to enable them to complete their church, now in course of erection, on the corner of Hemlock and Boyle streets, Allegheny. Favored by the kindness of a few white friends, and the untiring efforts of the membership, our little Church has been trying to erect another temple to the honor of the Living God, ever since our building on East Commons was destroyed by the guilty hand of an incendiary.

We wish and pray for the success of all Christians, whether Presbyterians, Baptists, Episcopalians, or others. There are enough colored people in the two cities and its environs to fill churches specially devoted to the evangelical teachings of these denominations. Church Power is not alone our aim. We wish to build a church wherein we can worship God according to our consciences, and the light which HE has given us.

Prof. S. A. NEALE, who is not of our faith, but is, nevertheless, an earnest worker in the Spiritual Kingdom of the Master, will act as our Agent for a brief while, and we have invested him with letters which empower him to solicit subscriptions from all well-wishers.

We also respectfully announce that a Grand Celebration of the victories of Freedom in this county, will come off at UNION PARK, in the Western part of Allegheny, AUGUST 1st, 1867. All the Colored Military and Civic Societies will participate, and a Grand Tournament will be one of the features of the occasion. All the profits will be devoted to the payment of our church debt.

Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. We will give you an order for a large size safe when we get into our new store. Truly yours,

THE COURTS.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

[SIXTH WEEK.]

This Court met Thursday at ten o'clock, Hon. Thomas Mellon on the Bench, Col. L. B. Duff, District Attorney.

JURY OUT ALL NIGHT.

The jury in the case of J. B. Harshaw, C. E. Harshaw and W. H. Bowman, indictment aggravated assault and battery on Henry Bousher, remained out all night, and not having agreed upon a verdict, standing eleven against one, came into Court and asked instruction. There was some difference of opinion as to the propriety of convicting all of the defendants, the jury desiring to know what amount of participation in the assault was necessary to be shown in order to enable them to do so. Having been "instructed," the jury again retired. In a short time they returned with a verdict of "not guilty," as to J. B. Harshaw, and finding C. E. Harshaw and W. H. Bowman guilty of assault and battery, recommending them to the mercy of the Court.

CONSTABLE INDICTED.

John Shuler, constable of Reserve township, was indicted for an assault and battery on Margaret Molter, alleged to have been committed whilst the defendant was at the house of the prosecutrix making a levy under an execution, in accordance with his duty as an officer. Verdict not guilty, prosecutrix to pay the costs.

FEROCIOUS DOG.

The next case was one of nuisance, involving the character of a dog. Patrick McNally was the defendant, and it was alleged that he kept or owned a ferocious dog. A. H. Rowand, residing in Allegheny, the prosecutor, testified that defendant kept a sort of bull dog, not very small; something over a year ago a son of witness was bitten by the dog very severely, requiring medical attendance; the dog was sent to the country, and in March last was brought back; soon after a fight took place between defendant's dog "Dash" and a dog belonging to a son of witness. In April defendant informed the son of witness to look out for himself, as he (defendant) was going to let "Dash" loose, having previously had him tied up. It was in consequence of this statement that Mr. Rowand, desiring protection against the dog, prosecuted McNally. It appeared that the dog "Dash" had a spite against Rowand's boy, and knew his footstep. On cross-examination Mr. Rowand stated it was "over a year" since the dog bit his boy; would not swear positively that it was not "two years ago."

Arthur Rowand, son of the prosecutor, testified that he knew the dog; that he did not know how long ago, about two years he supposed, the dog came out to him as he was going up street; that he picked up a stone, when the dog ran back; that the dog came out again, and witness, falling over a mortar box, was bitten by him. In March last the dog again raced him. Defendant keeps a store five doors from Mr. Rowand's house, on Sandusky street, and the dog was mostly kept tied in a stable. On cross-examination young Rowan admitted that he had teased the dog, and persuaded by other boys he would get out his own dog to fight McNally's, and a regular fight took place on the 21st of April last; afterwards McNally offered to bet $100 his dog could whip, but the wager was not accepted. A number of witnesses for the defence testified the character of the dog for peace was good. Verdict not guilty, defendant to pay two-thirds and the prosecutor one-third the costs.

UNSOUND MEAT CASE.

Henry Hershauser alias Dutch Henry, butcher or stockdealer, was arraigned upon an indictment, drawn under the seventy-seventh section of the Penal Code, charging him with selling the flesh of diseased hogs and cattle, alleged to have been purchased at the stock yards.

Caleb Martin testified—Reside at East Liberty; am employed at the stock yards; defendant is in the stock business; have seen him buying hogs, cattle and sheep; have seen him buying crippled cattle and hogs, taken from the cars, and stock that was not crippled; bought the stock and took it away; could not say how he disposed of it; could not say that he bought diseased stock; he would not call crippled or foot sore hogs, giving out from travel, or such having broken legs, diseased. Cross-examined—Have been at the stock yards for two years, having general superintendence. Re-direct—Could not say that hogs "giving out" were diseased, as he did not see them butchered. Cattle, from being crowded in the cars, were trampled and bruised, and sometimes were swelled some, but could not say they were diseased. The defendant manufactures grease, has a factory for the purpose, and in the pursuance of this business he bought dead hogs and cattle. To the Court—Hogs passed through said to have had the "cholera," but none of them were sold, except perhaps to those who bought "dead stock."

Wm. Deems testified—Knew the defendant; had seen him buying crippled stock, but could not say it was diseased; he also bought dead stock. He is a butcher and has a slaughter house; also has a grease factory. Could not say what defendant did with the "crippled stock" purchased by him. Stock crippled in the cars, and in unloading, are sold as such, although they might be sound, so far as witness knew, for butchering purposes.

George B. Tomer testified—Work in the stock yards; know defendant; was never in his employ. Testimony the same as former witnesses. The term "crippled stock" is applied to all (not dead) that cannot move about.

Henry Connor testified—Defendant bought crippled stock, and good stock, frequently; took it away, but witness knew nothing further. Defendant was a large buyer during last winter.

Wm. Woolslayer testified—Bricklaying is my principal business during the summer, and kill hogs in the winter; never was in the employ of the defendant; never was in his slaughter house; have seen him hauling dead stock to his tank or factory; had seen crippled hogs, the meat of which he would not like to eat; had killed crippled hogs that were as good as any others; did not know where defendant sold his stock. Cross-examined—Defendant has resided in East Liberty for three or four years; do not know of his having sold unsound meats.

David Tomer testified—Live at East Liberty; had been working at the stock yards for two or three years, up until within a month or two; since then have been doing nothing; have been a butcher; never was in defendant's employ; had been at his slaughter house, but never when there was any slaughtering; never saw any crippled animals there. Other testimony same as previous witnesses. Cross-examined—Defendant has an establishment on the Frankstown road, on Mr. Kelley's place, where he manufactures grease from dead animals.

Samuel Holmes testified—Employed at the stock yards; had seen defendant buying sound, crippled and dead stock. Knew nothing further.

James M'Lubben testified—Work at blacksmithing at East Liberty; defendant buys all sorts of stock; he is a large stock dealer; saw him on one occasion buy one thousand sheep; also saw him buy car loads of hogs. Knew nothing further.

Harry White testified—Live at East Liberty; know defendant; know of his buying dead stock; do not know of his buying any other—am not much about the stock yards; never was at defendant's slaughter-house.

Abraham Guey testified—Am a carpenter; reside at Homewood Station; know defendant; would term him a general stock dealer; have passed his slaughter-house, but never was in it; never saw him buy any stock; have weighed fat and stock cattle for him.

George Givins testified—Am night watchman at the stock yards; never saw defendant buy, or sell, or slaughter any stock.

Jacob Kurtz testified—Am a butcher in the Ninth ward of the city; know defendant; he wholesales hogs and beef; have purchased dressed meat from him this Spring, as sound as any one need have; can't say where he sells; don't know of his offering for sale any meat except what was sound; have been dealing with him for six years; don't know of his selling at retail.

Frank Leffler testified—Am a butcher in Lawrenceville; never purchased from defendant, or saw him sell; heard from others he was a stock dealer.

John Sherman testified—Live in Reserve township, now the Seventh ward, Allegheny. This witness knew nothing more than that he went to East Liberty with "soft soap," met defendant there and sometimes "took a drink mit him."

Samuel Braum—Am a butcher, reside in the Seventh ward, Allegheny, and sell in the Pittsburgh market. This witness knew nothing material.

James McAllister testified—Am a stock dealer, and formerly kept a tavern in East Liberty. This witness should have been called for the defense. He never knew of defendant having any other than good stock.

Patrick Bannan testified—Am a butcher, in a small way, in McClure township. Saw some damaged hogs in the market, which he understood belonged to the defendant. This witness seemed to know more than any of those called so far, and had a great deal to say, but on cross-examination it appeared his knowledge was rather speculative.

Philip Berger, a butcher, was the next witness called, but for what purpose did not appear from his testimony, unless it was to help the Commonwealth not to make out a case. The same remark applied to Jacob Martin, "bone boiler," of Reserve township, and Peter Tesh, butcher, of Duquesne borough.

James Hoag testified—Live in Allegheny; am a butcher; knew defendant only by sight; he is a stock dealer, but never saw him slaughter, sell, or offer for sale any stock.

Ernest Breeze, butcher, residing in Liberty township, gave testimony equally important.

Philip Drum testified—Live in Pitt township; do business in the city as butcher; know defendant; have seen him have pork in the market; saw his wagon on one occasion in the Ninth ward, with some meat in it which witness would not like to eat; it was pretty badly bruised, and witness did not consider it fit for sale. Witness said a hog injured in the foot might be bought with safety, in respect to the soundness of the meat, but hogs were sometimes injured inwardly, which rendered their meat unfit for use; this injury could be discovered by a butcher, but sometimes they were deceived; witness could discover this sort of injury in hogs more readily before they were slaughtered, as there was a certain position in which the animals would lay when they were so hurt.

The hour of three having arrived, Court adjourned till ten o'clock, Friday morning.

Forcible Argument.

Julius Dougherty, constable of the Eighth ward, is charged by Patrick Leonard with having used a very forcible argument to convince him, Patrick, that he owed the vain Dougherty the sum of one dollar. The facts of the case as related by Leonard are as follows: He says he is a carpenter by trade and that a few days since he had some business with Alderman Thomas, and went to his office to transact it. He met Dougherty there, who said that he (Leonard) owed him one dollar. He, (Leonard) denied it, whereupon, he alleges, Dougherty shut both doors of the office and locked them, drew a "billy" and six barrelled revolver from his pocket, and told him that he could not leave there alive unless he paid the dollar. Leonard, not being prepared to leave this mundane sphere on such short notice, paid the dollar, then repaired to the office of Alderman McMasters and made an information against Dougherty, charging him with felonious assault. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Threatened to Kill His Wife.—Frederick Nohr, a German, residing in the Fifth ward, it appears has forgotten his hymeneal vows to "love, cherish and protect" his spouse, and threatens to kill her. A very unfortunate proceeding for Frederick, by the way, as his wife, Margaret Nohr, fearing he was in earnest, made information against him before Alderman Taylor, who issued a warrant for his arrest, and after a hearing, committed him to jail in default of $300 to answer at Court.

Absconded.—Thomas Lenhart, an indentured apprentice to D. M. Kaufman, a German barber, doing business on Penn street, not having a fancy for the trade, quietly packed his kit and "vamosed the Ranche" a few days since, and has not since been heard of. Kaufman made information before Alderman Taylor. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Officer Bell who started in pursuit of the absconder.

The Overholt Robbery.—James Brown, charged with robbing Henry S. Overholt, on the afternoon of the 3d of July, had a hearing yesterday before his Honor Mayor McCarthy, and in default of $2,000 bail was committed for Court. Several witnesses were examined, and the testimony elicited, although not of a positive character, is very strong against the defendant. The hearing was conducted by John Mellon, Esq., on the part of the prosecution, and T. E. Hamilton, Esq., appeared for the defense. Mr. Hamilton stated that he had evidence to prove an alibi, but that he would not present it until the case was taken up in Court.

Was it Larceny?—Yesterday there came before Mayor McCarthy a young man named William McCarty who on his oath charged one Charles Clark with the larceny of a coat, shirt and gold ring. Officers Cupples and Dressler arrested the accused at McFarland's Grove, where he was enjoying himself at a pic-nic. It appears that both the young men board together a short distance up the river, and the accused "borrowed" a full suit without permission from his fellow boarders, wherein to appear with credit and effect at the pic-nic. He was lodged in the tombs.

The Eighth Ward Fire.—Yesterday John Little appeared before Alderman Taylor, and made an information for arson against three men named F. Clark, Thompson, and Nicholas Pfeniger. They are suspected with having fired Hutchinson's stable, which was burned at an early hour yesterday morning. There is no positive evidence against them. Suspicion was directed towards them on account of some difficulty having taken place between them and Mr. Hutchinson. A hearing will be held to-night.

Fire.—An alarm was sounded from box 61, corner of Penn and Harrison streets, yesterday, about twelve o'clock, occasioned by the roof of the dwelling house No. 702 Penn street, taking fire. The fire originated, it is supposed, from sparks from the chimney, but as the steamers were promptly on the ground, the flames were extinguished before any material damage was done. The building was occupied by Mrs. Shannon as a boarding house.

Sudden Death.—A little girl aged six years, daughter of Prof. T. E. Wakeham, died very suddenly Wednesday, about four o'clock. She had been playing on the pavement and was taken suddenly ill, when she was carried into her parents residence, No. 21 Union Avenue, Allegheny, and medical aid summoned, but she was beyond the power of human skill, and expired in a few minutes.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞SECOND BANKERS' AND MERCHANTS' GRAND PRESENTATION ENTERTAINMENT, will most positively take place at IRWIN'S HALL, on the evening of July 24th, 1867. The largest, greatest and most successful enterprise ever inaugurated in the world. A Present with every ticket. The First Grand Concert was given on July 4th. It was a grand success. The mammoth Hall was filled with the elite of the city. The audience appointed a committee of nine of the leading Bankers and Merchants, to examine the corresponding numbers in the tickets and the Register Books, to prove that all is correct before making the grand distribution of prizes at the last Concert, on the 24th of July.

A gift with every ticket. The Grand Distribution of presents will be conducted on the Mutual Benefit principle. A pro-rata Distribution of Profits to Ticket holders. Capital, $1,287,148. Tickets, $1 each. A present with every ticket.

A reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the commercial and financial standing of the company, and the managers and bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guarantee of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with it will be conducted. All the interests of ticket holders will be most scrupulously watched over and guarded. In fact it is the desire of the managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest. List of Presents: Cash—one cash present at $75,000; [illegible] Total value of presents, $1,287,148. Immediately after the grand distribution a list of the presents awarded will be printed and sent to each ticket holder. Their plan is the fairest and most impartial plan of distribution yet offered to the public. ☞HELMBOLD'S

Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Eradicates ERUPTIVE and ULCERATIVE DISEASES of the THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, July 11, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 139¼. Eighty-one bonds, 110¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 112⅝; Five Twenties, 1864 109¾; Five Twenties, 1865, 109⅞; Consols, new, 108¾; Seven Thirties, 108⅜@108½; Ten Forties, 102¼. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 71; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 93; Chicago and Rock Island, 97¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 45¾; Chicago and Northwestern preferred 68⅝; Fort Wayne Railroad, 103; Michigan Southern Railroad, 81½; New York Central, 106; Reading, 104⅜; Western Union Telegraph, 49; Mining shares—Gregory, 7,00; Corydon, 2,65; Quartz Hill, 1.90; Smith & Parmelee, 5,15.

The gold market was firm at 138¾, and after three p. m., closed at 139½ bid. The feeling in the gold room is very firm, and all offers to sell below the highest figures are eagerly taken up. A strong effort is being made by speculators in Government securities to depress Seven Thirty bonds for the moment, in order to be able to purchase at a decline. The bonds of this class are coming in rather sparingly, and dealers in these securities are anxious to make a handsome profit besides their regular commission. The excitement in Railroad shares continues, and every successful advance is followed up by a set of new purchasers. Mining shares are dull and lower, and little doing in them. Local stocks dull, but purchased whenever offered at concessions. Money is scarce, and high rates are offered by parties in doubtful credit.

Closing quotations received by James T. Brady:

—A Washington dispatch says:

An examination of the vaults of the treasury is now in progress by a committee appointed by the Secretary for that purpose, and it was thought inexpedient at present to have any money delivered from the Currency Bureau. This is the first examination of the treasury vaults since the spring of 1861; before that it had been the custom to have an examination once in every six months.

If this is really the first examination that has been made of the treasury vaults since 1861, there must have been a dereliction of duty somewhere; and Congress will, it is hoped, provide for a periodical, frequent auditing of the accounts of the treasury in so efficient and thorough a manner as to enforce entire responsibility on every officer of the department.

—The case of Overend, Gurney & Co., is entering on a new phase. The defense associations have lodged an appeal before the House of Lords for an early hearing of their case, so that a decision may be obtained during this session. The London Times city article says: It has been considered that the magnitude of the interests involved, and the number of persons—the shareholders alone amount to nearly 2500—who will be effected by the result of the appeal, fully justify an expectation that the appeal will meet with favorable consideration.

—A Buffalo paper states that the eastward movement of Flour and Grain through Buffalo from the West from January 1 to July 1 this year, as compared with last year, shows a decrease of 153,938 barrels of flour, and 10,455,909 bush of grain.

—The Treasurer of the United States holds in trust for national banks, as security for circulating notes, $340,607,500; as security for deposits of public money, $39,608,400. Total securities held, $377,615,950. The amount of national bank currency issued to date is $303,045,726; from this is to be deducted the currency returned, including worn-out notes amounting to $4,379,847, leaving in actual circulation at this date $298,665,879.

—The New York Bank return, the increase in the leading items of which were given in round numbers yesterday, has tended to still further ease in the money market. The rates are not materially lower, but confidence in the future is stronger, consequently the discrimination as to collaterals is not so critical. Some of the large banking houses will not receive money on deposit, as there is little opportunity to use it except in stock operations, which are considered too speculative and too troublesome to watch. Other first class houses receive money on deposit, in moderate amounts, at 4 per cent., while others allow 5 to 6 per cent. Between capitalists and business borrowers the rate on Government and other first class collateral is 5 per cent., and on miscellaneous collateral 6@7 per cent. The best paper on the street is discounted at 7 to 8 per cent., though nearly all the short business paper is discounted by the banks at the bank rates.—Phila. Ledger.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Dry Goods market still inactive, although there is considerable more inquiry for woolen goods, but at generally low and unprofitable prices, which most all are unwilling to accept. Cotton goods hold their own, owing to the influence of numerous failures, some of whom are wholly in foreign trade. The failure of George A. Wicks & Co. is the largest that has occurred here for many years, but is found to be of less magnitude than at first announced. The liabilities of the firm are $1,773,287 against gross assets of $1,426,196, showing a deficiency of $347,091. To-morrow the creditors meet for a final adjustment, and we understand it is to be decided that the firm is to pay sixty-five cents on the dollar. Heavy Brown Sheetings steady and in moderate demand, at 17½@18 for best makes. Wamsutta Bleached Muslins sell at 25; Hill's 21; Ballou & Son's 17. Otis AXA Denims 28½; Warren A Brown 26; Cordis B R Ticks 17½; Swift River 17½; New York

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, July 11, 1866.

The general markets present no new features worthy of special notice. As noted in our last issue, there is a firmer and more confident feeling manifested, and while there are no important change in prices, some articles, nevertheless, are again tending upward.

GRAIN—There is nothing doing in Barley or Wheat. Oats continue firm and in good demand; sale of 1 car load at 73c, and subsequently the same car load could have been sold at 75c. Corn is firmer, and in better demand; sale of 200 bush at 90c and we are cognizant of the same figure having been offered for a car load. Sale of 1 car Rye at $1,25 per bush, and 1 do do at $1,30.

FLOUR—There is a continued good demand, and while the market is active and steady, prices are without quotable change. We quote at $11,50@12,00 for Spring Wheat; $12,25@$12,50 for choice; $13,00@$14,00 for Winter Wheat, and $17,00@$17,50 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $8,25@8.50.

PROVISIONS—There is a continued good jobbing demand for Shoulders and Hams, and we now quote the former at 10½c, and the latter at 20c. Lard dull and nominal at 12½c. Mess Pork dull and nominal at $22,50.

POTATOES—The demand is falling off, and prices are declining. Old crop are selling at $1@1.10 per bushel, and New Potatoes have declined to $5@5,50 per bbl.

CHEESE—Is in fair demand and steady, with regular jobbing sales at 14@16c, according to quality.

EGGS—Scarce, but the demand seems to be light, and we continue to quote fresh packed at 20c.

BUTTER—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and prices remain unchanged. Prime fresh may be quoted at 15@17c. Common packed Butter may be quoted dull at 8@10c.

GREEN APPLES—Are in better supply and drooping. We now quote at $6,00@$7 per barrel.

DRIED FRUIT—Continue exceedingly dull but unchanged. Small sales at 6@8c for Apples, and 8@12c for Peaches.

OIL—Lard Oil is still quoted by manufacturers at 82@83 for No. 2 and $1,03@1,05 for No. 1.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, July 11, 1867.

ARRIVALS OF STOCK DURING THE WEEK.

The following statement shows the number of cars of stock received at the Central Yards during the week ending Wednesday, July 10th:

| | Cattle. | Hogs. | Sheep. |
|---|---|---|---|
| P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. | 92 cars | 36 cars | 51 cars |
| C. & P. R. R. | 6 " | 18 " | 25 " |
| P. C. & C. R. R. | 17 " | 11 " | 30 " |
| Total | 115 " | 65 " | 106 " |
| Total last week | 220 " | 44 " | 90 " |

CATTLE.

There has been quite a reaction in the cattle market this week, owing partially to diminished arrivals, but mainly to to an improvement in the eastern markets. The supply of cattle was unusually light this week, and the offerings being mostly of an inferior character, shippers found it very difficult to get what they wanted even at the advance. Compared with last week, prices have improved from ¼ to ½ a cent per pound, and on common and inferior the difference was still greater. For instance, cattle which last week would not have brought more than 7¼@7¾, sold this week at 8¼@8¾, and it is possible that an extra drove, had there have been any such in market, might have sold at 8¾ or even 9c. Stock cattle may be quoted at 5@6½, according to quality and condition, and the demand still seems to keep pace with the supply. In concluding these remarks, it may not be out place to state that the impression prevails among stock dealers that the present reaction will only be temporary, having been brought about by the recurrence of the national holiday, which, as always is the case, cut down the shipments of cattle from the west, and it was the material falling off in the receipts that caused the advance this week and not any improvement in the demand.

SHEEP.

The arrivals of Sheep have been unusually large this week, and with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, the market has ruled very dull, and generally, prices are lower—common and inferior grades were difficult to sell at almost any price. One drove of 230 head was sold at a fraction over nineteen cents per head, or $49 for the entire drove, leaving the owner $6 after paying his freight bill, which was $43. As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, the best Sheep sold at 5@5½c, and common at 4@4½c.

HOGS

There seems to be an improved demand for this class of stock, and under the influence of light arrivals, prices, compared with last week, have advanced, and we now quote at $6,10@7,40 per cwt., gross, for light to prime heavy averages, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market.

RIVER NEWS.

There is nothing doing at the wharf, and the water has got to a point that it is not worth while to report it any longer. The weather continues clear and pleasant, and seemingly settled.

The towboat Wild Duck and barges, Dove and Swan are loading at St Louis for Pittsburgh. From appearance now, it will be some time before the Duck reaches here.

Capt. J. H. Lightner, of the Kate Putnam, arrived here from Cincinnati on Monday, and his clerk, Mr. J. D. Young, reached home on Wednesday. The Kate has gone into summer quarters at Cincinnati.

The Memphis Avalanche speaks now without prejudice, and says the Great Republic has shown herself fast enough for all purposes, and a brilliant career is before her.

On board steamer Ida Stockdale, at Narrow Point (D. T.) Thirty-five miles below Musselshell river, June 23.—The Ida Stockdale arrived at Fort Benton June 20, fifty-eight and a half days out from St. Louis, passing ten of the mountain boats. We left Benton June 20, 7 p m.; left Octavia and Guidon in port; met the Antelope and Amaranth, 22, at 6 a. m., at Musselshell river. On arriving here we found the Jame H. Trover out in the mud, high and dry, so we take her trip and go back to Benton this afternoon. The Abeona, Capt. Patterson, passed up last evening. Crew all well. T. S. C.

The first experiments tried to test the practicability of employing petroleum for generating steam were by Shaw & Linton, in Philadelphia. They continued during five months. In that arrangement the apparatus used was an ordinary tubular locomotive form of boiler, containing fifteen tubes two inches in diameter and fifty-six inches in length; a small steam engine in connection with it, operating a pump supplying water to the boiler; with an additional boiler of very small dimensions placed in a heating apparatus, to provide a steam jet, previous to firing up with the oil, in the absence of their means for procuring the necessary artificial draft, until steam was raised in the larger boiler.

Captains Hand and Cotton, owners of the tugs A. M. Ball and Nellie Cotton, entertained the Buffalonians with a novel exhibition the other day. Capt. Hand wagered $500 that his tug, the A. M. Ball, would pull the other out of the harbor into the lake. Steam was raised, the whistles started an infernal concert, the tugs hitched together and started in opposite directions. After a severe and rather protracted contest the Nellie Cotton was compelled to follow the other tug outside the lighthouse.

The room of Harry Miller, clerk of the J. D. Perry, was recently entered and his watch and pocket book stolen from under his head while he was sleeping.

The Lizzie Gill, a steamer owned at Saint Louis, is to have her hull cut across into four parts reunited. The purpose is to lengthen the hull considerably, sufficient to give it symmetrical lines, and it will be widened eight feet.

Capt. Gus. Dusouchet, of Evansville, has recently met a bereavement, in the death of his youngest child.

The next session of the Board of Supervising Inspectors convenes in Chicago on the 25th of July. This is a matter in which all steamboatmen are interested, and they should bear this in mind. The object of this meeting is to consider the action of the Commission assembled in New York a few weeks ago, by order of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The Phil. Sheridan may not have made the quickest trip ever accomplished from St. Louis to Dubuque, but she has made the quickest recorded trip. The Phil's time was something over forty hours. There is a conflict of statement on that point. At all events, the Dubuque Herald, of Saturday, says the Hawkeye arrived at Dubuque one hour after the Sheridan.

ST. LOUIS, July.—Business is improving. Receipts increasing, and include a considerable quantity of the new crop. Several Missouri boats are laid up to await high water. Competition continues to all points. Four boats are announced for the Arkansas, and not a load for one. Two hundred tuns of Government freight was awarded yesterday to the Mary McDonald, at 28½c per 100 pounds to Little Rock. Five boats arrived yesterday from the Missouri. The Octavia was out fifty-eight days to Benton and back, and looked like a California ship with her bags of treasure. The Shamrock reships 100 tuns on the Burlington and 45 tuns on the Columbia.

The Mound City (Ill.) Journal, of the 6th, says: There is a sure prospect of much business at the Marine Ways during the next few months. Capt. Hambleton has already booked the General Quitman, Robert E. Lee and Quickstep for extensive repairs, to come on in their order, one after the other as rapidly as he is ready for them. The Lee is now here awaiting the arrival of the Quitman, which comes out first. The latter boat will be here on Monday. There is a good prospect that the ways will be run to their full capacity all the summer and fall.

We extract the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial of Wednesday:

The Armadillo was aground at Rising Sun, when the Westmoreland passed up yesterday morning. She will doubtless be found at the levee to-day, as she can soon be lightened off the bar. The Westmoreland's pilots report only four feet on Rising Sun bar, for up stream boats. She stuck on the lower bar, drawing four and a half feet, and lightened to four feet, rubbing all the way over the bar. The Westmoreland and Clifton have both laid up until there is more water. Captain Hugh Campbell, of the St. Charles, leaves for Pittsburgh in to-night's train. Capt J. B. Archer and Mr. McCullough, of the Liberty No 2, left for Louisville last evening. Mr. W. C. Grubb, of the Minneola, has returned from his Eastern trip and leaves for Indianapolis to-day. Capt. G. N. Baker and clerk W. H. Baker, of the Sherman, are in the city. Capt. George, we are sorry to learn, is confined to his room at the Broadway with the chills and fever. They leave for Pittsburgh to-day. Capt. Taylor, of the Anna White, left for Wheeling last evening. Capt. J. G. Conway, of the Silver Cloud No. 2, arrived from Ironton yesterday morning and left for Pittsburgh in last night's train. A colored man named Wilson fell overboard from the Westmoreland at Donaldsonville, La., and was drowned, a few days since.

The Leonidas and Messenger are loading at Cincinnati for New Orleans. The towboat Alps was to have left Louisville on Tuesday for Bayou Sara to bring up a tow of empty barges.
